

Kevin's Corner

Trash Challenges - Many of our waste haulers in Riverside County have been or are facing serious labor shortages including truck drivers and even some call center staff. Our office has received numerous complaints over many months about trash cans and dumpsters not being picked up on time, sometimes delayed for over two weeks. I was recently told that the labor crunch is easing just a little bit and that at least the home pick-up service “should” be back on track. Apparently, staffing for the commercial type dumpsters and large item pick up is still hit & miss with challenges and delays remaining, at least until new hires can be found.

Charging Challenges? With the (unelected) California Air Resources Board and the (unelected) South Coast Air Quality Management District looking for ways to clean up California air, new hard-hitting rules are rolling out for trucks, trains, cars, ports and ships, etc. If it moves, it’s being regulated and reformed to reduce air pollution. Our County Board of Supervisors does not get to vote on these new regulations or when they take effect, we just have to be ready. With roughly 23,000 employees who drive to and from work, and a very large fleet of county passenger vehicles, emergency vehicles, and heavy equipment (backhoes, graders, dozers, etc.), your county government has its work cut out to prepare for this large-scale conversion. Some employees have already been switching over to electric vehicles (EVs) and the county vehicle fleet has already begun acquiring EVs, but we will need to accelerate that transition and add charging stations across the county. The County will also have to look at the needs of the motoring public and the electric charging infrastructure they will need. This is going to be a massive (and expensive?) infrastructure undertaking to accomplish, should the State stick to its time frame mandates. My guess is that the county undertaking may pale in comparison to the infrastructure buildup that the power companies will have to take on in order to deliver enough electrons to charge all those vehicles. The Press Enterprise recently reported that the state of California needs to add over 85,000 charging stations per year (costing an estimated $3 billion by 2035). The next issue will be the cost to generate all those electrons so that we do not have blackouts.

Spay and Neuter Challenges - A rigorous spay and neuter program can take a big bite out of the number of abandoned, stray, and feral dogs and cats out on our streets and filling up our animal shelters. We incentivize pet owners to do this by offering significant discounts on licenses for altered versus unaltered pets. Our office has also prioritized discretionary funding to provide mobile spay and neuter services (“The Neuter Scooter”) at no-cost (and vaccinations) to residents in some of our poorest communities, but lately the demand for these services has overwhelmed the supply of veterinarians to perform them, and Animal Services has had to keep their mobile surgery unit on site just to catch up with their own backlog of 800-1000 animals. They have recently hired a fourth veterinarian and are still trying to hire more surgeons to help, but this shortage of vets is not limited to our county DAS, it is nationwide, with even private veterinarians scheduling spay and neuter surgeries 3-6 months out, and local clinics overwhelmed with demand for services. Why is there such a shortage?

One major reason is the shortage of veterinarians in the US. Believe it or not, there are only two vet schools in California, and only 29 in the entire country! As a result, it is about four times harder to gain admission to vet school than it is to medical school or law school, and the number of new vets keeps falling behind the number of pet owners. Makes me wonder if instead of pursuing a new law school, UC Riverside should consider a School of Veterinary Medicine? That said, Animal Services hopes to catch up on their immediate backlog soon and have the “Neuter Scooter” back in our district as soon as November.

Community Clean-ups - The First District has several unincorporated communities that will be hosting resident clean-up: Woodcrest October 1st, Meadowbrook/Good Hope October 22nd, and Mead Valley November 19th. These free events are opportunities for local residents to clean up or clean out the garage or yard and self-haul the trash to the local drop off site. This is also a great time for residents, church groups and other local, civic minded organization to chip in with volunteers and trucks to help clean up our own neighborhoods and roadside trash. For more information, see the flier later in this newsletter or just give the First District office a call at: 951-955-1010.

As always, feel free to drop me a note about ways to improve services in Riverside County. I honestly read nearly every letter sent to us (excluding the nasty foul ones that go to a special secret file).

Non Profit Spotlight

Animal Solutions Konnection (ASK) Foundation

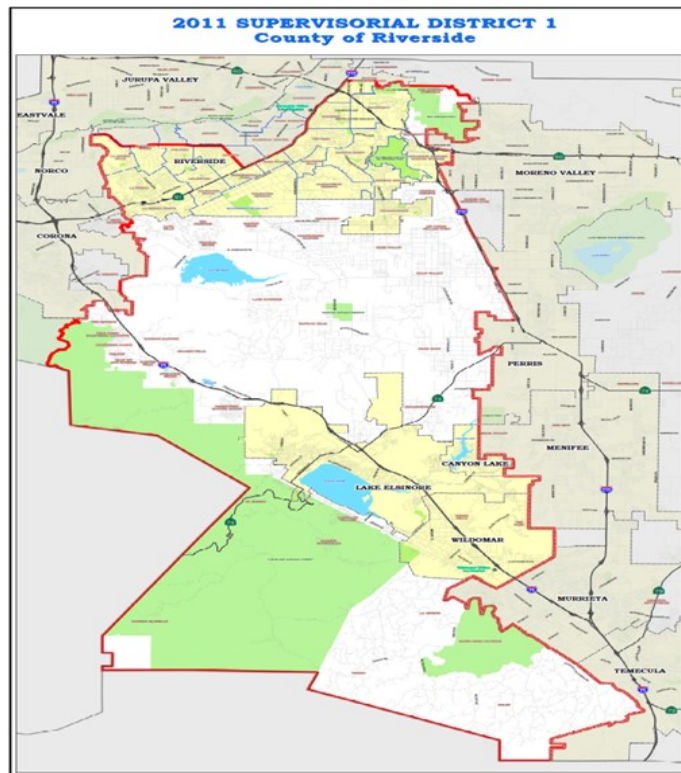

The Animal Solutions Konnection (ASK) Foundation was formed as a California non-profit 501(C)3 charitable organization dedicated to serving the needs of the animals in Riverside County and the mission of Riverside County Department of Animal Services.

The ASK Foundation Board of Directors is a group of animal-loving individuals who represent the broad spectrum of animals within the County including domestic pets, services animals, livestock and wildlife. We come from diverse backgrounds, including wildlife preservation, livestock, companion animals, services animals, rescues, sheltering, training and behavior. They are united by the common goal of ASK: to help ensure the compassionate and humane support of the animals of our community through public education, special programs and community outreach.

The ASK Foundation provides direct support to the Riverside County Department of Animal Services through fundraising and special programs to help our community's animals. Their special grants to the shelter fund emergency medical treatment for sick and injured animals. They also help fund spay/neuter services, a pet food pantry and education on animal welfare.

For more information, visit their website at: theaskfoundation.org.

BECOME A COUNTY OF RIVERSIDE PREQUALIFIED VENDOR

With the County of Riverside Purchasing and Fleet Services

The County of Riverside provides various opportunities for contractors to become Prequalified Vendors for both Formal and Informal Public Works Projects.

What is the benefit of being approved as a prequalified Contractor?

- Informal public projects allow project managers to contact companies on the approved "All Projects under $200,000" list directly for projects under $60,000 with no competitive bidding required and/or companies on the "Exclusive Small Projects" list who do projects under $25,000 directly.
- The "Exclusive Small Projects" do not require contractor registration with the Department of Industrial Relations (DIR) nor project registration or project bonds.

How long is a contractor's Pre-qualification valid for informal public projects?

- Qualifications begin each year on January 1, but applications are accepted year round
- Contractors must fully complete the prequalification package and provide all documents requested just one time.
- The contractor's prequalification status will remain current from the date of accepted qualification through December 31 of each year.
- Once approved, Contractors will be notified before the year ends requesting that they renew for the new upcoming year.
